

Workshop for people with complex communication needs

Everyone Connects – connecting people with complex communication needs

Come along to a fun interactive workshop for people with complex communication needs to learn about communication devices and apps.

You will learn about, and can try, a range of technologies to help you communicate more easily. These include:

- mainstream mobile technologies
- speech generating devices
- accessories and accessibility options such as eye-gaze access, switches and mounts
- software and apps for smart phones, tablets, and speech generating devices.

A separate training session is available for professionals working with people with complex communication needs. For more information about the Everyone Connects workshops and training visit
